Lesson 1 - Cafeteria worker

A. Reading

Cafeteria worker

Paula works in a school cafeteria. She starts work at 6:30 and finishes at 2:30. She prepares food, serves meals, and cleans up at the end of her shift. She likes her job and she makes good money, but the students are difficult to handle.

Some of them try to cut ahead of the other kids when they are standing in line. Some of them spill things on the floor, and Paula has to mop up the mess. Others are slow and hold up the line.

On the weekend, Paula likes to cater parties. Last Sunday, she catered a wedding for thirty-five people. She charged $18 per person, and had about $245 left after she paid all the bills. She is happy she made a profit.

Lesson 2 - Rainy day

A. Reading

Rainy days

Franco is from Brazil, and he loves rain. Madge is from Canada, and she hates rain. Sometimes when it rains, Franco asks Madge to walk around the block with him. Madge tries to be agreeable when Franco wants to go for a walk in the rain, but she really doesn't like it. Franco thinks it's romantic, but Madge thinks it's stupid! She would rather stay inside and read magazines, complete crossword puzzles, and drink hot tea. But she loves Franco, so when it rains she puts on her jacket and walks around the block with him.

Franco smiles and carries the umbrella.

Lesson 3 - Farmers work hard

A. Reading

Farmers work hard

Barry is a farmer, and he owns twenty acres of land. On the land, he grows lettuce, tomatoes, radishes, and corn. He also raises chickens and rabbits. Barry's wife, Susan, helps with the farm chores. Seven days a week, they wake up early, eat breakfast, and then start to work. First they feed the chickens and rabbits, and then they clean the barn. Next, they gather the eggs the hens have laid. By ten o'clock, they start working in the fields. They continue working until noon when they eat lunch. After lunch, they go to an outdoor market and sell their vegetables and eggs to the vendors. The price they get for their vegetables and eggs changes each day.
